

College of Applied Medical Sciences
Department of Dental Health Sciences

Dental Technology Program

Complaints and Grievance

Manual

CONTENT

Introduction

Role of the Department and College

Complains and Grievances

Administrative grievance

Introduction

King Saud University is keen to ensure discipline and quality of its systems. The University is also keen to ensure that students, staff, administrators, faculty members and leaders, work with a sense of comfort and satisfaction, which should reflect positively on the outcomes of the University, and should lead to positive development and improvement of its reputation in the community.

KSU strongly believes that faculty members are the pillars of the education, research and community service activities. Therefore, the University works to solve whatever problems that might be encountered. The university gives the right to the faculty to complain if they feel that they have been wronged, or not treated with equality or respect.

The DENTAL HEALTH PROGRAM has prepared this handbook for the faculty to guide them if they face any problem or feel that they have been subjected to inequality.

Role of the Department and College

According to traditions and norms of the universities, it is preferable to solve the problems, and manage the work through the discussion and suggesting the suitable solutions for the problems facing the faculty during the meetings of the scientific department councils and the college/supporting deanships. This is performed in an atmosphere of the one family feeling which is one of the character of the university staff and the academic work. In case of inaccessibility to a satisfactory solution through the councils, the faculty member has all the freedom to complain or raise his grievance against any administrative or academic decisions using a mechanism prescribed by the University.